Transpiring in "The Land of Flowers." Things "Boiled Down" to Suit the Busy Reader—Items of Interest to All Classes.

The St. Augustine postoffice is to be enlarged and improved.

The Ocala Star is publishing wet and dry campaign arguments at so much per.

The Pensacola city council has passed a Jim Crow law which will soon become operative.

The News says that Jasper is out of debt and has $300 in the treasury. Good for Jasper.

The Warren Fish Company at Pensacola has added a fine new schooner to its fleet. It is 84 feet over all.

Louis Christopher was killed at New Berlin, Duval county, Thursday morning by a Spaniard by the name of Gonzalez.

The Methodist church at Jasper is to be completely overhauled and repaired, a Jacksonville architect having the work in charge.

The ladies of West Palm Beach are bound to have a beautiful park, and one of them has started the good work with a contribution of $20.

And what do you think? It is stated on good authority that one of the West Palm Beach ball players threw the game to Miami for only $8.

The Banner of Liberty is making a vigorous kick regarding the quarantine regulations at Jasper, and wants some protection for the people.

Lightning played havoc with the telephone service at DeFuniak Springs a few days ago and all the people of that place were kept busy for a time dodging the bolts.

The Tampa Bay Hotel is being thoroughly renovated. With the hotel, vaudeville show and other side attractions, the city of Tampa ought to be able to reap a rich harvest during the Mid-Winter Fair in that city.

Thomas Hisler, charged with the murder of Ely Simmons at White House Station, near Jacksonville, on August 11, has been held for the grand jury being remanded by Justice Willard of Jacksonville, without bail.

A convict made his escape yesterday afternoon while out in the field pick-up at the Marion Farms. He was just recovering from a gunshot wound and was shortly to be sent back to the turpentine camp to work—Ocala Star, August 23.

The Live Oak Crescent insists that Hon. Paul Canova will be a candidate for State treasurer. And it goes so far as to say that he will be elected. He will Knott if State Treasurer Will Knott wants the place, in the opinion of The Tampa Herald.

Dr. F. D. Miller, health officer of Jacksonville, is determined to rigidly enforce the city ordinances relating to the department of the city government and those who persist in violating the same may expect to be arrested and punished if found guilty, for none will be allowed to escape.

A serious misunderstanding occurred Friday at Millville between Dr. Coleman, a young physician located there from Geneva, Ala., and a Mr. Donnelly, over a bill. The consequence was Dr. Coleman received eleven cuts and one very deep one over the heart. He is in a critical condition, but will recover.

Of the numerous sections along the East Coast of Florida which present inviting propositions to the homeseeker and tourist, none are based upon more substantial facts than those which are set at Stuart, the thriving village situated upon the south bank of the beautiful St. Lucie river, some twenty miles south of Fort Pierce.

WHAT MAKES A TOWN.

The Booster. Not the Knocker, is the Man to Cultivate.

"I have been away from Gainesville for some time," said a man who generally visits this city once in every one or two years, "and I can notice many improvements. I consider this town the most thriving of any inland city in Florida, and although I do not expect to see it reach over ten thousand population in my time, it certainly is sure to get up to that figure before long, and higher."

regarding this city, and coming as they do from men who have seen much of the country and are fair judges, they can be relied on with a large amount of certainty. As a rule the people of Gainesville have faith in the city, and although it has met with reverses in several ways during the years past, there are always to be found men who are ever ready to enlist in any enterprise or movement for the upbuilding and betterment of the town. With such men personal aggrandizement is a secondary consideration. They take pride in their town and talk for it, work for it and spend their money for it. They know that strength lies in unity and that he who pushes at the wheel of progress is the good citizen. They know also that general improvement and increase of valuations will benefit themselves. One of these is worth a carload of the grumbling pull-backs, yet one of the latter can do more harm than ought to be possible among intelligent people. The right plan for the citizens of a town to do is to encourage and brace up and help the town-builders in their efforts to do all the good they can for the general welfare.

Given Up to Die.

B. Spiegel, 124 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run-down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good, and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Big Shipment of Red Wood.

San Francisco, August 25.—An important deal has just been closed here, contracts having been signed for the shipment of 1,500,000 feet of red wood. It is the largest ever made direct to New York and the first to go by the water route. Under the contract, the cargo is to be loaded at Eureka by the middle of November and delivered in New York in April. The value of the cargo is about 75,000.

Cures Sciatica.

Rev. W. L. Riley, L. L. D., Cuba, New York, writes: "After fifteen days of excruciating pain from sciatic rheumatism, under various treatments, I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment; the first application giving my first relief and the second entire relief. I can give it unqualified recommendation." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Logical.

"You've been kissing Margie Hunter." "Oh, Nellie, what a story!" "Yes, you have, Robbie Dickerson. You don't like peppermint, and she always gets peppermint chewing gum. Oh, I can put two and free together." —Life.

Quite Apparent.

She—You know, Judge, our characters are different, and I don't want to be in his way. He—Yes, your honor, she is peculiar, and I don't want to interfere. Judge—I understand. You ask for a divorce out of pure love. —Meggendorfer Blatter

Tidy.

"Is Spooney's wife a good house-keeper?" "Well, I should say so. Why, he has to keep a private detective to watch his clothes so he can tell where to find them. She's so tidy." —Liverpool Mercury.

"He belongs to one of our oldest families, but he is a consumptive. He coughs dreadfully." "Yes, he says all he ever got from the family tree was the bark." —New York Tribune.

The Face Is an Index. The face is an index to the state of one's physical well being. Symptoms of disease can be detected from it almost before the patient is aware that there is anything the matter. For instance, excessive pallor indicates poor circulation and possible heart trouble. Incomplete exposure of the eyeballs, rendering the whites of the eyes visible during sleep, is a symptom of all acute and chronic diseases of a severe type. Twitching of the muscles is a herald of nervous exhaustion. Widening of the orifices of the nose with movements of the nostrils to and fro points to embarrassed breathing from disease of the lungs or channels leading thereto. Contraction of the brows indicates pain in the head. Sharpness in the nostrils is a symptom of pain in the chest. Bagging under the eyes, when not a facial characteristic, points to kidney trouble. Twitching of the eyelids associated with oscillation of the eyeballs or squinting, heralds the visit of convulsions. —American Queen.

A Kipling Lament.

In Laurence Hutton's "Talks In a Library" he tells as follows of meeting Rudyard Kipling at a luncheon given to the latter by Richard Watson Gilder. "Another engagement made me late, and I entered the room as the party was breaking up. I was introduced to Mr. Kipling, with whom I exchanged the traditional few formal words, and we drifted apart, but a moment or two afterward he placed himself on the arm of a chair in which I was sitting and said: 'I didn't realize, Hutton, when I met you a moment ago who you were. Dear old Wolcott Balestier, your friend and mine, tried so hard and so many times to bring us together in London and elsewhere, and now he is gone, and I can't understand it all. He died so suddenly and so far away, we had so much to say to each other, and now I have got to wait so long before I can say it.'"

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at all drug stores; price 50c.

An Ancient Tune.

"We Won't Go Home Till Morning" is not a modern song; at least the air is not modern, for it dates back to the times of the first Duke of Marlborough. It is the old French air of "Malbrook s'en va-t-en guerre; Dieu sait quant reviendra" ("Malbrook has gone to the war; the Lord knows when he will come home again"). The second verse hinted that the Duke of Marlborough would be a long time away. "Il reviendra-a la Paques, ou a la Trinite" ("He will return at Easter or Trinity Sunday"). In south Yorkshire, in England, that air exists as a children's song:

Mollie Brooks, she went to be shaved;
Mollie Brooks, she went to be shaved;
Mollie Brooks, she went to be shaved
and the barber cut her chin.

"Mollie Brooks" is a corruption of Marlborough.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. J. Nushbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar and it cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Both Saw the Monkey.

"I had a most terrible experience today," declared the pretty girl to her boarding house companions. "I was walking along the street, when suddenly I heard a most peculiar noise. I looked up, and there on a stoop stood a most hideous monkey, leering at me. It startled me, and I stepped back quickly, putting my hand to my eyes. Then the man who was coming just behind me remarked:

"You're all right, little girl. I see it, too, and I've been on the water cart for weeks." Now, what do you suppose he meant?"

The men boarders who were at the table answered not, but the wife of one of them explained to the girl later on. —New York Tribune.

Cherry Pectoral. The one great cough medicine for the whole family. Doctors recommend it for colds in the chest, hard coughs, the grip, and night coughs of children.
